

What's new for Konica Minolta

The latest PaperCut MF now includes managed and secure Integrated Scanning.

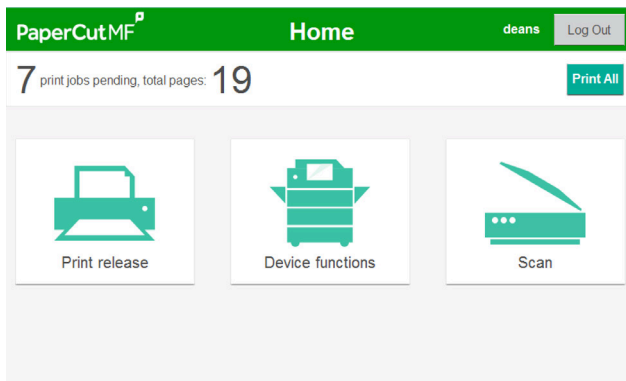

An intuitive user interface

The new PaperCut MF interface offers users a consistent and easy experience across Konica Minolta multifunction devices.

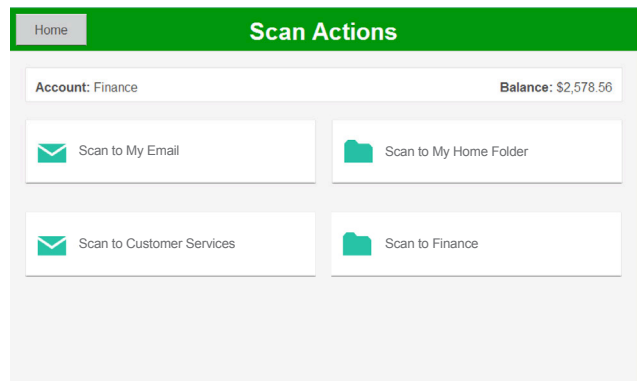

From the PaperCut Home Screen, users can:

- Quickly release all print jobs
- Access individual prints in their secure Find-Me print queue
- Scan documents to email or network folders
- Use native device functionality including copying and faxing

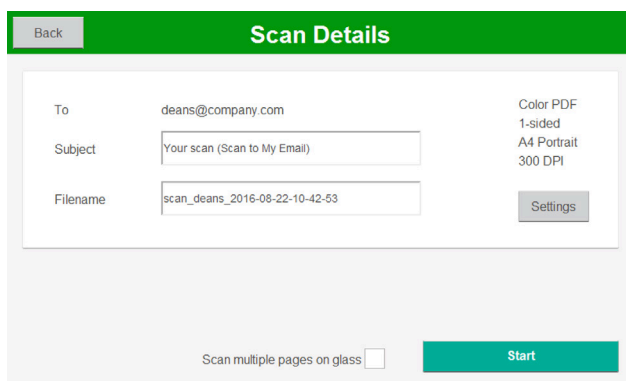

System Administrators can pre-configure and deploy device, user or group specific Scan Actions all from the PaperCut MF web admin.

Printing without a print server

PaperCut MF makes it easy to track prints sent directly from computers, to a printer, without a print server. Businesses of any size can track and report on printing - keeping configuration, administration, and reporting simple.

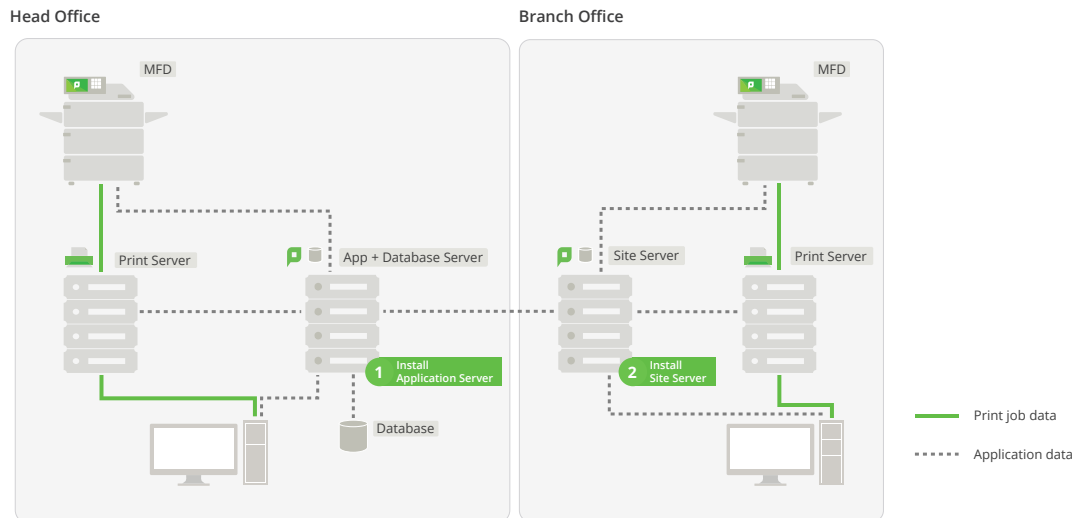

Small business can use key PaperCut MF features without the need to configure printing via a server. Larger businesses can deploy into remote offices without the overhead of print server infrastructure.

High availability with Site Server

PaperCut Site Server ensures continuous availability of printing resources to support key business functions over unreliable network links or during unplanned network disruptions.

Deploying the PaperCut Site Server ensures the critical services of the PaperCut MF Application Server are supported locally when the WAN connection stops working. Site Servers are simple to install and remove the complexity of database replication from System Administrators.

Multi-site, multi-server resilient deployment with Site Server.

Print queues and MFDs can now utilize a Site Server to deliver business continuity including support for Print Release and Find-Me Print, all without losing the benefits of central administration.

PaperCut MF is bEST Certified after rigorous testing by the Konica Minolta experts in Connecticut.
